

A photograph showing a large quantity of yellow plastic bags, each filled with waste, arranged in neat rows on a white tiled floor. The bags are stacked in a way that creates a perspective leading towards the back of the room. The walls are white, and a power outlet is visible on the left wall. The scene suggests a waste management or recycling facility.

A large collection of various food items, including packaged snacks like Doritos, Lays, and Cheetos, as well as fresh produce like tomatoes and onions, and other grocery items like eggs and oil.
